Boil-water order ends for Alderbrook water customers in Mason County

OLYMPIA — A boil-water advisory has ended for customers of the Alderbrook Water Co. in Mason County after lab tests showed the water meets federal standards and is safe to drink.

The state Department of Health issued the advisory Friday, July 11 as a precaution after the system had back-to-back water outages that could have allowed potentially harmful contaminants to get into water lines. The system's three 100,000-gallon reservoirs went completely dry, causing the system to lose pressure.

Mason County Public Utility District #1 (PUD), which manages the water system, is asking customers to continue conserving water, especially during the current heat wave. The district, which serves 455 homes and businesses in eastern Mason County including the Alderbrook Resort and Spa and the Alderbrook Golf Club clubhouse, is requesting that customers with even-numbered street addresses limit outdoor water use to even-numbered calendar days. Those with odd-numbered addresses should limit outdoor water use to odd-numbered calendar days.

Customers can call Mason County Public Utility District #1 at 360-877-5249 for answers to questions about their drinking water.
